Red Strawberry Solutions

Lanyards

We supply lanyards for conferences, events, businesses, festivals, schools, colleges and hospitals where they mainly used to display ID cards, security passes, keys or name cards. They are also widely used within retail and by the pub, bar and restaurant trade to use with dallas keys or smart cards for electronic point of sale (EPOS) purposes.

Badge Reels are a commonly chosen alternative to neck lanyards as they are often more convenient. They are most often attached at the users waist and have a retractable cord to save leaning over when swiping a smart card through access control points or attaching using dallas key with EPOS terminals.

Neck Strap Lanyards come in a variety of widths and colors and often come with a breakaway clip for safety purposes or a quick release mechanism for convenience when used as mobile phone holders, cameras or USB memory sticks.

Our lanyards can come with a variety of attachments such as a keyring, bulldog clip, crocodile clip or a mobile phone attachment, but usually we supply a D clip as standard. Lanyard attachments will attach to the ID card or smart card if they have a slot incorporated otherwise a ID Card Hole / Slot Punch can be used to provide the slot to attach the card directly to the lanyard. An ID Card Holder will often be used as an alternative to hold the card and directly attach to the Lanyard.

Lanyards can be great promotional items and can be custom printed with your promotional message or logo. Customised lanyards are also a useful way to provide extra security when used with ID cards or name badges. We have minimum order quantities for custom-printing lanyards - please see our Plain Breakaway Lanyards, Pre Printed Breakaway Lanyards or customised lanyards pages. The most common printing method used is screen-printing Printing Lanyards

We also supply a competitively priced range of pre-printed lanyards with logos such as "Staff" and can get different wording made to order if required.
