Retractable Lanyards

Combining the convenience of badge reels and lanyards together in one product that's perfect for many uses, the Retractable Lanyard is truly a durable product.

For example, Retractable Lanyards save the user bending over to swipe their ID card or smart card close to an access control point. A retractable key or badge reel is built onto the end of the lanyard. This allows the user to extend the cord (with the card on the end) and gain access to the door or electronic till or cash register without bending over. The cord then easily retracts back into the casing of the badge reel.

They are often used to display security passes or ID Cards for businesses, conferences, events, festivals, hospitals, educational establishments. They are also much used by the pub trade, bars, restaurants, shops and retail outlets to use with dallas keyfobs or smart cards for EPOS (electronic point of sale).

Retractable lanyards also prevent loss of school pupils house keys, security passes or name cards and are commonly used by disabled people for keeping their house keys handy and medical condition info. on display. Careworkers and taxi drivers use them too to keep items handy.

Our heavy duty retractable lanyards are supplied with a variety of attachments such as a bulldog clip, crocodile clip, D clips, ID Card strap and mobile phone / USB drive attachment.
